Testimonials

DAN HONIG, PHD

Department of Public Policy, Harvard Kennedy School

"I've had many brilliant students at Harvard; Kevin stands out from the rest. Kevin is unique for his ability to make connections others don't see and the earnestness with which he pursues understanding and engagement. Kevin's unique perspective on the world, coupled with his razor-sharp intellect, give him the real possibility of being a generational change-maker. If you believe, as do I, that the smartest probabilistic bets are almost always on individuals rather than abstract ideas, I'd bet on Kevin; his upside potential is enormous."

DEBBIE ROBINS, M.A.

Executive Business Coach, Best-selling author, Huffington Post Blogger

"I didn't have the good fortune to meet Steve Jobs as a young man. I can only imagine it would be identical to my experience of knowing Kevin Jain. It is already obvious that Kevin, at 23, is a visionary and leader. He is destined and determined to use his off-the-charts intelligence, understanding of technology, creativity and infectious spirit to radically improve the world."

DAVID PARKES, PHD

Harvard University George F. Colony Professor of Computer Science

"Kevin Jain is bright, creative and passionate, and I'm sure he will succeed in building exciting new products that impact our daily lives."
